European Research & Innovation Days, 2020 edition

The 2020 edition of European Research and Innovation Days will be held online from 22 to 24 next September.

This leading event of the the European Commission brings together researchers, entrepreneurs, policymakers and citizens to debate and shape the future of research and innovation in Europe and beyond.

It is expected a very full programme (link to the draft programme) with feature three days of intensive policy co-designing, thought-provoking panels and matchmaking opportunities.

The interactive sessions will let participants provide input on how research and innovation policy and funding can help propel Europe's recovery and pave the way to a green, digital and resilient future.

The 2020 edition, which follows an unprecedented global crisis, it will be a unique opportunity to discuss how research and innovation will benefit Europe's future.

Further information:
https://ec.europa.eu/info/research-and-innovation/events/upcoming-events/european-research-and-innovation-days_en