TPDL 26th International Conference on Theory and Practice of Digital Libraries

Over the years TPDL established an important international forum focused on digital libraries and associated technical, practical, and social issues. TPDL encompasses the many meanings of the term ?digital libraries?, including new forms of information institutions; operational information systems with all manner of digital content; new means of selecting, collecting, organizing, and distributing digital content; and theoretical models of information media, including document genres and electronic publishing. Digital libraries may be viewed as a new form of information institution or as an extension of the services libraries currently provide.

TPDL historically approached on ?Digital libraries? embracing the field at large also comprehending three key areas of interest that can be synthesized as scholarly communication (e.g. research data, research software, digital experiments, digital libraries), e-science/computationally-intense research (e.g. scientific workflows, Virtual Research Environments, reproducibility) and library, archive and information science (e.g. governance, policies, open access, open science).

TPDL 2022 is hosted by the University of Padua and will take place in Padua, Italy from 20 to 23 September 2022.

TPDL 2022 accepted 60 contributions after rigorous peer-review: http://tpdl2022.dei.unipd.it/accepted-papers.html

We present two keynote talks: http://tpdl2022.dei.unipd.it/index.html#keynotes

1) Roberto Di Cosmo (INRIA, France): "Should we preserve the world's software history, and can we?"
2) Georgia Koutrika (Athena Research Center, Greece): Democratizing Data Access: What if we could just talk to our data?

Moreover, there are two workshops:
1) The 1st International Workshop on Digital Platforms and Resources for Access to Literary Heritage
2) Linked Archives 2022 - The 2nd International Workshop on Archives and Linked Data

Registrations are open. The conference can be followed also online: http://tpdl2022.dei.unipd.it/registration.html